

History of Recent Social Science Conference
École normale supérieure de Cachan

Friday, 13 June

9:50 – 10:40 am

Fabian Link (Goethe-University Frankfurt am Main)

Re-constitutionalizing social sciences in postwar-Frankfurt: Social knowledge between reeducation, democratization and “anti-totalitarianism”

10:50 – 11:40 am

Alice White (University of Kent)

From warfare to welfare: Constructing a science of human relations in post-war Britain

Coffee/tea break

12:00 – 12:50 pm

Till Düppe (University of Quebec at Montreal)

Koopmans in the Soviet Union

Lunch

2:30 – 3:20 pm

Bregje van Eekelen (Erasmus University Rotterdam)

Creative intelligence: US military investments in undisciplined thought, 1945–1965

3:30 – 4:20 pm

Eric Hounshell (UCLA/Uni-Konstanz)

Fordism and the postwar social sciences: The Edsel studies at the Columbia BASR

Coffee/tea break

4:40 – 5:20 pm

Cécile Stephanie Stehrenberger (University of Zurich)

Floods, sociology and Cold War: On the history of social science disaster research, 1949–1979

History of Recent Social Science Conference
École normale supérieure de Cachan

Saturday, 14 June

9:50 – 10:40 am

Thibaud Boncourt (European University Institute)

Transnational science as a weapon: A comparative perspective on the history of European social science organisations

10:50 – 11:40 am

Michele Alacevich (Columbia University)

Not a knowledge Bank: The divided history of development economics and development organizations

Coffee/tea break

12:00 – 12:50 pm

Jenny Aronson (Sciences Po)

A new non-science of the future: Futures studies and the limits of human reason, 1968–2000

Lunch

2:30 – 3:20 pm

Elizabeth More (Harvard University)

Sex role socialization and the intellectual history of American feminism

3:30 – 4:00 pm

Tracy Teslow (University of Cincinnati)

Race: Bodies and cultures in American anthropology, museums and popular culture

Coffee/tea break

4:40 – 5:20 pm

Peter Sachs Collopy (University of Pennsylvania)

From visual anthropology to video therapy

